Assumptions:	Even though this course is being administered “online”, this is a “ seminar ”- type course. Students will be expected to participate actively in collaborative discussions and assignments.
Exam policy:	Exams will be taken online during a range of dates (at the student’s convenience). There should be no need for make-up exams BUT , just in case, make-up exams will be considered on an individual basis for dire emergencies only. The student is responsible for initiating any dialog regarding make-up exams.

Additional Info	Additional information will be available in the Blackboard Learning System
MFT Exam:	CS 4307 is considered a capstone course for the CS major. Graduating Seniors MUST take the MFT (Major Field Assessment Test). The MFT is administered by the Testing Center in the Division of Continuing Studies. Multiple testing sessions will be scheduled late in the semester. Students will register for a particular session by phoning Continuing Studies (2339). Continuing Studies will determine the times and places of the administrations. Immediately after each administration of the test, a list of students who have taken the test will be sent to the Computer Science Department and to the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. No student will be certified for graduation who has not taken the MFT .
